Traffic Flow Input

Thank you to all Annapolis Royal citizens, businesses and area residents who attended the Traffic Flow Advisory Committee public meeting at the Fire Hall on April 18th.

Your input is very much appreciated by Mayor Tompkins and the Committee. A clear majority of you strongly voiced your support that the current directional structure of Town roads be retained.

Many comments were also heard about the 'bottle-neck' to traffic flow on St. Anthony Street between St. George and Victoria Streets due to delivery trucks parking in a currently posted loading zone and the difficulty for cars to safely pass into oncoming traffic. Some other key messages from the meeting include: police the stop sign areas more frequently and work with businesses along St. George Street to encourage owners and staff to park their vehicles in areas other than St. George Street.

The Traffic Advisory Committee heard your comments and suggestions and will discuss them in detail at future meetings.

Three Initiatives Being Pursued As A Result of Community Input More Initiatives Will Also Be Pursued in Upcoming Months

The Marketing and Economic Development Committee (MEDC) is pleased to announce that three initiatives are being pursued as a result of community input received at the brainstorming session held March 13, 2013.

1. The Town's building and development permit processes are being reviewed and a meeting is planned with local developers to discuss concerns and service standards;
2. Future use of the Annapolis Royal Regional Academy is being actively pursued through collaboration with key stakeholders;
3. The Town website is undergoing a page-by-page and link-by-link audit. Council and MEDC will consider findings and identify ways to improve many areas that have been and will be identified in terms of shortfalls or areas requiring improvement, easier linkages will be provided, and changes made to the calendar.

To view the list of community comments which have been organized by keyword and forwarded to a MEDC subcommittee for further consideration and action, please visit the Town website at: <http://www.annapolisroyal.com> or contact admin@annapolisroyal.com for a copy of the comments sent to you via email.

The Town Office will be closed May 20th for Victoria Day.
