MAYOR'S MESSAGE

Mayor Bill MacDonald

December is a time of reflection, and for many a holiday season marked by the coming together of family and friends in the spirit of love and generosity. Whatever one's faith or beliefs, the holiday season in Annapolis Royal provides the opportunity for all of us to come together in a celebration of community. Our town may be a tourism destination icon, visited each year by ever increasing thousands of tourists, but it is also home for many of us; and, for many others in the region, their community of interest.

History has been both generous and hard on our community, but people have always been its strength. Diversity in all its forms, including differences of opinion, make communities stronger - when love and kindness towards each other is the dominant feature of relationships. In the spirit of the season, I encourage all of us to put aside petty grievances and recognize our shared humanity with those around us. Our community, our region and province, our country, and the world will all be the beneficiaries.

Have a very Merry Christmas and a joyous holiday season; and reach out to those less fortunate.

COMMUNITY

A Message from the AWEC Students...

Hey Annapolis! This is Emma and Joe - we've been given a space to share some info with the community. Our main focus will be on environmental issues and climate change, as we feel it is important to have our voices heard in this matter. We will also provide updates on what's going on at AWEC, such as student council events, sports, or any other extracurriculars.

Enviro Tip of the Month: Try to cut down your single-use plastics - don't forget your reusable bags when you go to the store... and remember, you can probably carry those few groceries in your hands!

The first reference to a Yule Log was recorded in the 12th century; the Yule Log was a giant log – often an entire tree. It was considered good luck to have some of the Yule Log remain after winter, as it could be stored to ward off misfortune like lightning, mildew or housefires in the coming year.

CHIEF'S CORNER

Chief T.G. (Tim) Moser

I know it's hard to believe, yet here we are – December. That time of year that is usually about having a festive season with family and friends. This may include travel for you, your loved ones, or dear friends. Unfortunately, there are a few Scrooges out there that may like to take advantage or some who are a bit too festive, so I want to share some information with you to consider as you partake in the festivities. Let's start with Shopping: be aware of your surroundings and who may be watching for an opportunity to pilfer items from your home or vehicle; don't leave items in your vehicle however if you want to do more than one trip into the stores do not leave items in plain view and secure your vehicle; if doing multiple trips into the stores, consider going for a short drive after putting items in your vehicle, then park in a different spot before going back inside. Also, be careful of what you post on social media such as when you are going to be away from your residence, photos of contents within your home, or any information that may show your address. Adjust your privacy settings so what you are posting is seen only by those you choose to share with.

Driving: the whole idea is to Arrive safely! Make sure your vehicle is "Winter Ready" by putting on winter tires, topping up your windshield washer, and keeping the following items in your vehicle: emergency kit; snow brush; a small shovel; a charged phone, and extra washer fluid. Dress for the weather – you can't keep warm if you run into vehicle problems and you don't have/wear warm clothing; Let someone know where you are: when you are leaving and/or when you arrive; and DO NOT DRIVE if you are consuming alcohol and/or cannabis – we all know why so I won't bore you with a lecture. If you do partake then plan ahead: arrange to stay on the premises or within walking distance of where you are partaking, take a cab, or designate a driver who is willing to remain sober.

I would like to remind you to refrain from parking your vehicle on the roadway when it snows. You may receive a ticket and/or have your vehicle towed if it interferes with snow removal operations. Yes – we may have to be that Scrooge guy!

Finally, please keep those in mind who are in need or are simply having a rough time. Try to help where and when you can. If you are the one suffering – please reach out and talk to someone. You are not alone!

Have a safe and wonderful holiday season and to those who celebrate – have a very Merry Christmas!
